

College Library – Remote Access to Subscription Databases

Students: Please note that the Library Resources channel has been added to the Academics Tab of your MyCCP account.

You can add a channel in MyCCP to access the Library's databases remotely:

Click on "Content/Layout" at the top left of the screen in MyCCP

Select the Tab to which you'd like to add the "Library Resources" Channel

Click "Add Channel"

1. Select a category
Choose "Select All" from the drop down box
Click "go"
2. Select a Channel
Choose "Library Resources"
3. Click "Add Channel"

Return to the Tab to make sure the "Library Resources" Channel appears. Encyclopedia Britannica and Library Databases should be listed. Click "Continue" at the EZProxy screen.

Library Databases takes you to our Indexes/Databases page. You should now be able to access all of the databases without the use of a username/password combination.

To select another database, you MUST return to the Library Resources Channel for access.

Problem? If you are unable to get into these databases, you may need to disable your firewall protection OR use Mozilla/Firefox. You can download a free version at <http://www.mozilla.com>.

Reminder: MyCCP is not available on Sundays from 6:00 AM – 1:00 PM for maintenance.

If all else fails, the username of ccphila and the password of foliage will allow access to the following databases: CQ Researcher, EBSCOhost, Issues & Controversies, Literature Resource Center (no username required), The New York Times, Opposing Viewpoints, The Philadelphia Inquirer and PsycARTICLES. This login will be effective beginning September 2, 2008, through January 19, 2009.

The Library's web page is located at <http://library.ccp.edu>.

For further information, Ask A Librarian – askalibrarian@ccp.edu